Just when Daniel's dreams of getting AstroTurf in the school football cage are finally coming true, disaster strikes. A master criminal has broken in and stolen the money to pay for it.

But this new time-travelling ability might be just what Daniel needs. Can he sneeze himself back in time and stop the thief before the crime ever happens?

MISSED THE FIRST BOOK IN THE SERIES?

When Daniel's parents go to Scotland instead of celebrating his tenth birthday, he's not impressed. What's more, they've left his dipsy Aunt Tink in charge and given him a plant as his present. What happened to the pet he'd begged for?

Can you really blame him for wishing he had a guinea pig instead of his stupid show-off brother? Or for the fact that it actually came true?

But with nutty bullies, crazy chefs and mad scientists about, the race is on for Daniel to somehow undo the magic before his parents find out. (And to save his brother of course. Even if he is eating his own poo.)
